History

The Faculty of Philosophy, Sciences and Letters at Ribeirão Preto, founded in 1959, began its activities in 1964, and in 1974 became part of the University of São Paulo, located in the Ribeirão Preto Campus.

The Faculty occupies a physical place about 40,000 m<sup>2</sup>, employs 214 academic staff members and 219 technical staff, and serves the surrounding community through various centers attached to seven Departments, each focused on a different academic area.

Research

Research conducted at the Faculty is of international standard, supported by funding from state and federal agencies. The investigations undertaken are well received by the academic community and are widely cited. Faculty members publish their articles in peer-reviewed journals with selective editorial policies. Publications are constantly updated in the university's on-line Integrated Library System.

Center of Support for Foreign Visitors - CAPEE

CAPEE provides assistance to incoming international students and faculty regarding their visa documentation, such as the RNE (International ID). It also offers information to our visitors about our available services, such as transportation and housing. The campus provides housing services for the first month so the international student has enough time to find permanent housing. Reservations must be made before the student's arrival.
